Arthur G. Slaght Demands Information Officials Refuse to Reveal Hidden Reserves of Banks; Ilsey Is Pressed for Figures

OTTAWA, May 26.—(CP)—A determined drive was made in the Commons Banking Committee yesterday by Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., Liberal member for Parry Sound constituency in Ontario, to have made public the hidden reserve figures of the 10 chartered banks.

S. M. Wedd, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, however, refused to divulge the amount of the reserves. C. S. Tompkins, Inspector General of Banking, also refused.

Mr. Slaght then appealed to Finance Minister Ilsey and the minister said he wanted time to think it over.

The rest funds or ordinary reserves of the banks are published monthly, but in addition each bank has an inner reserve to take care of exceptional or unexpected losses which may develop. The amount of these inner reserves is disclosed to the inspector general, the finance minister and the deputy finance minister. They are not necessarily disclosed to the head of the Bank of Canada.

The committee will resume discussion upon the inner reserve of the chartered banks today. Mr. Slaght, in questioning Mr. Tompkins, referred to these amounts as "mysterious reserve" and then asked Mr. Ilsey what they amounted to. The sitting became confused at times as members put questions to the witnesses and it was at this point that J. J. Kinley (L., Queens-Lunenburg) asked if the committee were "a police court."

Insurance Against Potential Losses

When Mr. Tompkins said he did not think the figures should be revealed, Mr. Slaght declared the committee and parliament had a right to know what the banks had hidden away in these reserves.

W. H. Fraser (L., Northumberland) and Hughes Cleaver (L., Halton) took part in the discussion to clear up that the banks transferred profits to the inner reserve without paying income taxes on them.

Mr. Fraser objected that other companies could not do that. If losses did not reach the amounts set aside in ordinary companies, income taxes had to be paid on the balance at the end of the year.

Mr. Tompkins assured the committee these inner reserves were in line with sound banking practices and were an insurance against potential losses.

Bank losses on bad loans often could not be planned down to any particular year. If the amount of the inner reserves were made public and there were heavy deductions shown by a particular bank in any one year, it might affect the confidence of the public in that bank, he said.

He said that was his principal reason for refusing to disclose the amount of the inner reserves.

Mr. Slaght then asked Mr. Ilsey and the minister replied that it was a "grave responsibility" to take. He said he would have to think it over.

May Put It Up to Committee

"After I think it over I may put it up to the committee to use its best judgment in deciding whether it would ask the minister to make the figures public," said Mr. Ilsey.

The question first came up when Mr. Slaght was examining Mr. Wedd. Mr. Slaght suggested that the banks should be required to disclose their inner reserves.

Convict Soldier Of Slaying Four

CAMP ANA, Calif., May 26.—(AP)—A United States court martial convicted Lieutenant Beaufort G. Swancutt today on a charge of murdering four persons in a shooting spree here last March 25. The minimum sentence recommended by the court was death. The maximum sentence recommended by the President was life imprisonment. Swancutt, charged with murdering his girl friend and three other persons, appeared unaffected by the verdict.

The court, which has the power only to recommend judgment, will send a record of its proceedings to Col. J. K. Herbert, commanding officer of the Los Angeles port of embarkation.

Today's Session

OTTAWA, May 26.—(CP)—Arthur Slaght (L., Parry Sound), a monetary reformer, today continued in the Commons Banking Committee a vigorous, but so far unsuccessful, attempt to have revealed the hidden reserves of the 10 chartered banks.

Mr. Slaght said the bank directors' attempt to hide part of the hidden reserves of the 10 chartered banks.

Mr. Wedd said that was not the purpose. It was not desirable to publicly disclose the inner reserves.

"Or pay taxes on them," said Mr. Slaght.

Mr. Slaght said the inner reserves came from profits on operations. If the banks had tried to hide part of their reserves they had a special privilege not granted the ordinary taxpayer. A wage man could not hide part of his gross earnings.

ONLY INFORMATION
The only specific information he obtained during the session has the statement of C. S. Tompkins, inspector general of banks, that the inner reserves were "in excess of $100,000."

Mr. Tompkins said he had previously said he did not think the figures should be given.

"I want to keep up on you as close as I can," said Mr. Slaght, in presenting his motion.

"I say that the hidden reserves are in the millions of dollars."

Mr. Tompkins: "It is in excess of $100,000."

Mr. Slaght: "It is below $500,000."

Mr. Macdonald (L., Banff-Calgary) said he objected to Mr. Slaght's question.

Mr. Slaght: "All right, Mr. Tompkins, you appear to have Mr. Slaght's question."

Mr. Macdonald: "I think it is improper the question should be asked. When the committee has completed its work it can decide whether to advise the public of the interest of the depositors that these reserves should be disclosed."

Mr. Tompkins: "These inner reserves have not reached the figures some seem to think they have."

Norman Jaques (S.C., West-Edmonton) said he wondered if Mr. Tompkins was referring to the shortage in Edmonton, Mayor John W. Fry announced Friday.

He said that prospect of making the purchase was indefinite, but added that if the deal went through it would be completed within the next few days.

If the deal is completed, Mayor Fry said, it will be necessary to do considerable alterations to planning to meet the requirements for placing families in the buildings.

5th Army Captures Town of Cori, Eighth Takes Mount Cairo Bastion

NAPLES, May 26.—The Allied Fifth Army, driving six miles northwest of Cisterno, German stronghold on the former beachfront which fell after a savage battle, has captured the town of Cori, it was announced today, while on the southeastern end of the line, Eighth Army troops seized Mount Cairo, enemy bastion northwest of Cassino.

Martin Hallenleben, military correspondent of the German DNB agency, reported tonight that Field Marshal Albert von Kesselring had given orders to his troops to give way at the main points of the Allied Hallenleben continued: "The tanks have been given the task of rolling over the German lines deep into their rear and cutting off the German fighting men. They have lined up in the area of Cisterno and on the Melfa river."

On the centre of the front, American and French forces took San Giovanni, three miles northwest of Pico. Fall of Villanova, together with three bridges in this sector was announced earlier.

While the Fifth Army, composed of British and American formations, extended its grip on the Positione Melfa, the Canadian troops, Gen. Sir Oliver Leese's Eighth Army were pushing forward from new establishments in the area of the Melfa river.

United Kingdom and Polish troops at the same time seized Aquino and Piedmonte and were advancing with the Canadians and pursuing of the retreating Germans.

It was stated that Mount Cairo, another of the crumpled enemy defences beyond Cassino, now held by British and Canadian troops, had been captured by the Fifth Army.

The trip so far has resulted in three casualties. One soldier drowned in the Melfa river, another was killed in a truck crash, and a third was killed in a truck crash.

Chief Constable Jennings and the R.C.M.P. co-operated with military authorities in posting constables at principal intersections on the city and school zones of the route.

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, May 26.—(CP)—In recognition of the Canadian achievement in the recent Italian drive, Gen. Alphonse Juin, commanding the French formation, sent the following message to Lt.-Gen. E. M. (Tommy) Burns, commander of the Canadian Corps.

"Heartiest congratulations for the great success won by your troops through the Hitler line and achieved an advance that greatly facilitates the task of the French Expeditionary Corps."

Gen. Burns replied: "Thank you very much for your kind message, which will be passed on to the troops. All ranks of the Canadian Corps are filled with admiration for the magnificent Fighting French Expeditionary Corps in this offensive, and the French formation, and with you on our flank, recalling the victory at Amiens on Aug. 8, 1918."

Gen. Burns was referring to one of the major achievements of the Canadian Corps in the First Great Drive, which was commanded by Gen. Sir Arthur Currie. The victory of the Canadian Corps in the final Allied drive which drove the Germans back from the Paris area and led to the armistice in November, 1918.

Govt. Is Urged to Probe Charges Made by Follow Of Tar Sands "Sabotage"

OTTAWA, May 26.—(CP)—C. E. Johnston, Social Credit member for Bow River constituency in Alberta, said last night in the Commons the government should set up a Royal Commission to investigate the charges of Hon. W. A. Fallo, Alberta minister of public works, that there was "scandalous spending" and "sabotage" in the development of the tar sands on the Athabasca river.

Mr. Johnston said Mr. Fallo a few months ago had made serious charges that the Alberta Tar Commission is the only way you can find out whether the charges were well founded or not.

URGENT COMMISSION
Mr. Fallo had suggested that a Royal Commission be set up and that it should be composed of the first witnesses to be called.

Pensions Minister Mackenzie asked why the Alberta government had not set up a Royal Commission. Mr. Johnston said the federal government was aware of the charges.

NAPLES, May 26.—A mighty fleet of possibly 750 American flying fortresses and Liberators struck deep into southeastern Italy today to bomb and burn a half-dozen key railway targets extending from the Riviera to the Adriatic.

In their second straight daylight assault on the vital German supply lines in southern France, the U.S. 15th Air Force heavyweights blasted the big yards at St. Etienne, Lyons, and Chambery, and Grenoble in the French Alps.

Other raiding formations fanned out along the river valley, striking Nice railway yards on the coastal line running into northern Italy and the nearby river viaduct.

A special air force communiqué said American fighters carried out all the attacks except that on St. Etienne, which was bombed by strong Portuguese formations.

LONDON, May 26.—The United Kingdom government in a white paper today announced sweeping plans for getting Britons back to work after the war, finding jobs for all and beating the bugbear of a post-war slump.

It made the hopeful assertion that "there will be no problem of general unemployment in the years immediately after the end of the war in Europe."

The paper proposed for the immediate post-war period a controlled switchover of industry from war production, the allocation of labor and raw materials on a priority basis, and the continuation of rationing and of limited price control.

Extraordinary trade held up by the white paper as the key to the whole post-war employment problem.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Roosevelt today called an international conference of 42 nations and the French Committee of National Liberation to discuss international monetary problems.

At Bretton Woods, N.H., beginning July 1.

Last month Mr. Morgenthau presented to the committee a preliminary study based on principles of a proposed $50,000,000,000 gold-based stabilization fund which would be used to restore international finance and production.

That outline was agreed to by treasury technicians of 34 nations. Under the plan the United States would put up around $25,000,000,000. Great Britain $12,500,000,000. France $12,500,000,000. The balance would come from other participating nations.

Information Demanded Officials Refuse to Reveal Hidden Reserves of Banks: Hsley Is Pressed for Figures could use this inner reserve or, as he termed it, "the hidden reserve" and "the mystery reserve" to pile up hidden profits which the public would know nothing about.

As an indication that inner reserves were not excessive, Mr. Tompkins said that in 1931, 1932 and 1933 certain banks transferred $29,000,000 from their published reserves to their inner reserves to take care of losses.

Sees Possible "Unfair Conclusions"

If the inner reserves were published people might draw entirely wrong and unfair conclusions, Mr. Tompkins said. If the inner reserves of any bank were sharply reduced any particular year it might cause anxiety concerning its management which might be an entire misconception.

"I submit this committee should know what these reserves are," insisted Mr. Slaght. "How are we to judge whether the banks are too greedy in transferring profits to this reserve if we don't know the amounts?"

At this point several members brought to question Mr. Tompkins and Mr. Hsley took exception to Mr. Slaght, referring to witnesses as "Mr. Bergen and Charlie McCarthy." Mr. Slaght had this description stricken from the records, although he added they were both "very popular people."

"Is this a police court," interjected J. J. Kinley (L.-Queens-Lumber). When the meeting opened Mr. Wedd read a prepared statement regarding the proposal that instead of the Dominion government borrowing some $250,000,000 from the chartered banks at a cost of $35,000,000 a year, the government should borrow it from the Bank of Canada and get it interest free.

FEARS INFLATION. Mr. Wedd said if the government borrowed large amounts from the Bank of Canada that would become new money and would cause inflation. If the bank took the $250,000,000 revenue it would have to find some means of offsetting it and it would result in increased costs to the people using the chartered banks. "I don't think you should ask me to disclose the amount of the inner reserves," Mr. Wedd said when Mr. Slaght pressed for the figures.

kins meant that the inner reserves were so small that depositors would "lose" if they knew them.

"We're getting nowhere fast," said Hsley. "We have been going around in circles for the last 15 minutes," said W. H. Moore (L.-Ontario, committee chairman).

PHASED TWO CIRCLE.
Mr. Slaght: "But I was dragged in to the circle."

Mr. Macdonald said he thought Mr. Slaght had suggested he (Mr. Macdonald) did not favor having the banks pay taxes on their inner reserves. That suggestion was wrong, Mr. Slaght. "That'll be good news in the Bradford factories," Mr. Moore: "Oh, go on, Mr. Slaght."

Mr. Tompkins said the inner reserves of the banks now are higher than they were 12 years ago but the general bank risks had increased.

BANKERS' EVIDENCE.
J. M. Wedd of Toronto, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, told Mr. Slaght he did not agree with the suggestion that inner reserves and failed to pay taxes on them. Banks make tax returns like other corporations.

Mr. Slaght said there was nothing in a statement on the banks' part that would give the Commons by Finance Minister Hsley which would lead to the amount of the banks' inner reserves.

Mr. Tompkins said he had already told the committee he considered it undesirable that the inner reserves be disclosed. Mr. Slaght said Mr. Tompkins had assisted in the preparation of the minister's statement to the house, and apparently it had been prepared in "good faith" the banks' hidden reserves.

Mr. Tompkins said he objected to the remark that he had been "carefully considered."

W. A. Fraser (L.-Northumberland) said that other companies apart from the banks set up contingencies for the future. He was interested in the security of the banking system and had no right to derive any contingency from hidden reserves.

Mr. Hanson said the "charge" was that the banks had a special privilege in placing money in hidden reserves and escaped taxation. He asked Mr. Wedd if this was correct.

When the sitting opened, Mr. Slaght asked Mr. Wedd if he had changed his mind overnight and he could give the committee the figures of banks' hidden assets. Mr. Wedd replied he still would not like to give the figure.

"Our bank is the general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce," a statement by the commissioner of taxation and it is invariably correct.

Mr. Wedd said if he had been banking practice for years not to disclose the inner reserves and he could see no reason for change. The Finance Minister asked if that was not really more important than protecting the $144 deposits.

Mr. Wedd said that was hardly a banking question. He agreed, however, that the banks played an important part in the prosperity of Canada.

Mr. Nosworthy will continue the examination when the committee resumes on Tuesday.

Britons Put Down Mutiny by Greeks

CAIRO, May 22.—A nine-minute burst of fire ended a mutiny by Greek troops, mentioned in the House of Commons Wednesday by Prime Minister Churchill, at a desert camp not far from El Alamein. The action ended a series of unhappiness incidents among the Greek forces which cost the life of one British officer.

The unit which mutinied was the First Greek Brigade and the mutineers were compelled to lay down their arms by the action of British troops supported by tanks. The British forces advanced under a smoke screen towards the mutineers with orders not to fire unless they were fired on. Of the two principal Greek outposts the first surrendered immediately but the second resisted for 15 minutes, before the entire camp gave up.

Armies Linked by Jeep

WITH THE BEACHHEAD FORCES IN ITALY, May 28.—(CP)—A British sergeant on patrol near a blow-up jeep spotted a jeep containing two soldiers approaching him.

The soldiers challenged him. "Are you American?" "Are you from the 30th Army?" The sergeant and the Americans identified each other and the jeep drove on to meet the main beachhead forces.

Thus did the main force of the Allied 5th Army and the beachhead forces meet yesterday, just 14 days after the Allied offensive got under way, 1½ miles west of the little village of Borgomaro on the coastal highway between Terracina and Anzio.

encirclement by Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's armies.

The swift advance and seizure of Cori with its radiating highways posed a direct threat to the via Cassina, only highway capable of handling large-scale military traffic behind the German divisions being beaten back from the overrun Hitler line.

The bag of prisoners for the first 14 days of the offensive rose to more than 12,000, including nearly 5,000 taken by the Anzio beachhead forces alone. Fifty-six towns and 78 parishes have been captured.

Cisterna, important highway and railway junction on the Apennine Way 25 miles southeast of Rome, was occupied late yesterday after some of the bitterest fighting at the beachhead end of the front.

LAST-DITCH BATTLE.
Though surrounded, the German garrison literally fought a last-ditch battle. The final assault began at noon and four hours later the 100 surviving Germans surrendered. The remainder of the garrison was killed.

American troops, with British reconnaissance units, fanned out from Cisterna even while fighting still raged in the city. They drove three miles to the northwest along the Apennine Way toward Rome, advancing an equal distance north-east along a road toward the mountain town of Cori and pushed southeast along the Apennine Way to effect another junction with troops from the main front.

The communique said nothing about the progress of British divisions which had driven across the Moleto River and were nearest to Rome on the coastal end of the new front being established following the Fifth Army juncture.

STRONG RESISTANCE.
German resistance in that quarter was reported very strong, especially in front of the German key point of Campione, but a flank movement, was envisaged around Castel Gandolfo, where lies the Pope's summer residence, Albano and Nemi.

The advance of the Eighth Army against stiff resistance was watched as a vital element of Alexander's strategy, calling for the smashing thrust at the centre of Lessa's United Kingdom, Doctore and Polish forces and the Fifth Army's spectacular thrust on the vulnerable sea flank.

The concerted drive has thus opened two roads to Rome.

Fighter-bombers attached to the Fifth Tactical Air Force yesterday made their largest-scale attack yet against German columns falling back along the Apennine Way, Cassina and other roads south of Rome, destroying 60 motor vehicles and damaging 500 others. Twenty out of 90 intercepting German planes were shot down.

Albertan Brings Out Tanks Mired in Mud Near Rapido

By DOUG HOW

WITH THE 8TH ARMY IN ITALY, May 28.—(CP)—The struggle for the Rapido river was in its first confused, dubious phases. There was one bridge across its steep banks, then two, one squadron of tanks, then two, then three.

But in those first few hours tanks were bogging down on the far side of the river, churning vainly while the Germans blazed away with light and heavy weapons from the slopes beyond. One regiment, for one, saw eight of the Sherman tanks mired and lost to the fight that first day.

And that's where Sgt. L. A. Hart of Lacombe, Alta., and his men came in. Some of his men were the Royal Canadian Electrical Mechanical Engineers' Light Detachment working with the regiment. Others were the troops who provided the crew for the two tanks in which they drove out to go to work on those frustrated Sherman tanks across the Rapido.

They released all eight that day while the shells kept coming from the German positions.

Their two-day toll to more than 800 vehicles destroyed in the past two days at a time when the enemy had all advantages to reach his new defences, presumably between the beachhead front and the Rapido.

At the Eighth Army end of the front, Polish troops ripped out the northern anchor of the crumbled Adolf Hitler line with the capture of Piedimonte, three miles west of Cassino, while United Kingdom forces seized Aquino, Benevento and the theologian, Thomas Aquinas.

The Aquino airfield finally was captured yesterday afternoon in a tank battle after a week-long struggle. Struggles back and forth across the landing strips. German paratroops counter-attacked repeatedly before they finally yielded.

GAIN SUPPLY ROAD.
The Fifth Army junction gave the Allies a first-class supply highway all the way from Naples to Cisterna and virtually completed the encirclement of Pontine marshes. James E. Roper, British United Press war correspondent, who accompanied the first column to reach Cisterna from the south, said the capture already was opening dams to draw off flood waters penned up by the Germans as a defence measure.

In their advance up the Cisterna-Cori road, the Fifth Army troops also cut a lateral road crossing it about a mile and a half to the northeast. Other elements of the Fifth Army reached the Cori-Dogana road.

Both advances above the Apennine Way carried toward the mountains protecting the flank of some 11 enemy divisions resting along the front curving 70 miles to the south-east.

If the Allies could push through the mountains to the Via Cassina, 15 miles to the northeast, they would cut these forces' last practical communications with Rome and probably force them to yield the capital without a struggle.

Time To Look Ahead

Warning is given that people who live in areas where wood is used for winter fuel had better build up their woodpiles during the summer. For the reason that there is no prospect of the labor supply being better next winter than it was last winter, and woodcutters may be too few to keep all the home fires burning unless a good part of the cold weather needs are foreseen and provided for well in advance.

There is information coming from the people in Alberta and on the prairies who use coal for cold weather firing. Coalminers may be as scarce as woodcutters when winter comes again, probably will be. Not much has been heard as yet about the advisability of filling up the bins in the summer months. It is not too early to think about this. If the miners are to be on the job next fall they will have to be kept employed during the summer.

Goebbels Will Tell Us

The Fifth army has fought through to make contact with the forces holding the Anzio beach-head. It is now about 20 miles in a straight line south of Rome. From being a target for enemy attacks for months, it has now become a springboard for Allied thrusts at and along the Apennine Way, the coastal road which leads directly to the capital.

Berlin announces that this sector in the Hitler line was evacuated, neglecting to explain that it was abandoned because it could no longer be held. Retreat there was a lessening of a strategic position, a waning, and a part of "line-shortening" manoeuvres to extricate his whole 17 divisions from danger of being penned in by the Eighth army in which the Canadian corps is included.

Whether, as London observers suggest, this is the start of a new offensive, or if leave Rome in Allied hands before long, may be doubted. Goebbels has not yet begun telling his hearers that the city "has lost all strategic importance." It will be time to inform that Marshal Kesselring finds it no longer possible to hold the place.

There Ought To Be a Law

When civilization becomes truly civilized there may be a struggle to make those who display clocks and timepieces in public places to keep them within a reasonable degree of accuracy. This reflection is inspired by the remarkable agreement in chronological opinion between the several clocks standing out along the business section of Edmonton's Jasper avenue.

No two appear to register alike.

It is a kindly thought for the merchant to provide these timepieces for the use of the public. Particularly by the age when everybody is always hurrying somewhere or other, it is convenient to be able to match the time on the run, so to speak, but the public cannot be expected to be so judicious as to lean so heavily that when they fail to tell the truth there are some times dire consequences.

In an ideal society, therefore, the proprietors of these clocks would always keep them in order or display signs on them calling attention to their derelictions. It would help a great deal to have some of them more bore placards announcing frankly, "This timepiece is a periodic liar."

Sacrifice Medals

One may wonder if the war mothers of Canada will take kindly to the suggestion of War Services Committees that they be asked to wear "some badge or some bit of ribbon" to distinguish their sacrifice. These mothers are honored in the hearts of all Canadians, but somehow one is doubtful if they would care to so advertise their devotion.

No one is more entitled, of course, to wear such a distinguishing badge or ribbon. And if to wear such a badge is their wish, everyone will applaud it. Nevertheless there is something about the idea, even about the proposal that does not fit in with the temperament of these splendid women.

Canadians, inherently, are not a medal-wearing people. They seem to have little taste to plaster themselves with ribbon and make a public display of their circumstances or their accomplishments. Least of all, we feel, are these mothers, who have given everything for their country, disposed to make a public exhibition of their anxiety and their grief. What "badge" or bit of ribbon could adequately symbolize what goes on in a human heart?

The "Big Four"

Mr. Sumner Welles seer danger in the proposal that the United States, Russia, China and the British Commonwealth be joined together as a four-power alliance to prevent another outbreak of armed aggression in the future. These four nations are the only ones who have developed tendencies and tendencies themselves become enemies of the rights and liberties of other nations.

It is to be noted that an alliance of the kind would not be a four-power combination, but an eight-or-nine-power group, or a nine-or-ten-power group, or a ten-or-eleven-power group, or a eleven-or-twelve-power group, or a twelve-or-thirteen-power group, or a thirteen-or-fourteen-power group, or a fourteen-or-fifteen-power group, or a fifteen-or-sixteen-power group, or a Assisted Loan Alexander's Star Is Steadily Rising

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE
LONDON, May 26.—Mounting success of the Allied drive in Italy raised the possibility today that Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's brilliant planning and timing would make it possible for him to finish the war in Europe as part of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's second front team.

Civil Servants Bought $241,400 In Victory Bonds

Alberta civil servants bought $241,400 of bonds in the Sixth Victory Loan drive, 106.30 per cent of the $227,000 quota established, it was announced Friday by William McGrouther, president, Civil Service Association of Alberta.

The figure includes bond purchases by government employees in all parts of Alberta, but does not cover employees of the Alberta Government Telephone, the Workers' Compensation Board, and the Alberta Liquor Control Board.

Before Magistrate

Clifford King, who is 19 years old, while authorities maintained he was 22, and who allegedly took two cattle from one of his house stockyards and sold them to a private citizen, was sentenced by Magistrate A. J. Miller, K.C., Friday morning, to three months on each of two counts, with terms to run concurrently.

The second attack came four hours after the first, when the aircraft plunged 3,000 feet in a dive to shoot the motorized platoon. First victim was a tank, which was a stream of red tracks and cannon aimed at the enemy.

John E. Herby pleaded guilty to driving at an unreasonable speed, was fined $15 or 21 days in jail. A member of the R.C.M.P. followed the accused along a city street for 40 miles an hour, the magistrate was told.

Mrs. Adela Messersmith, charged with assault, was fined $15 and costs or five days.

John Schlener and Beatrice Lund, charged before Magistrate Miller, K.C., Thursday afternoon with unlawfully selling liquor, were fined $15 and costs or five days, with hard labor. Only the latter accused's case was contested.

Harry G. Corlett of Westlock was unable to appear in answer to a charge of driving at more than 50 miles an hour, so he authorized his attorney to plead guilty and pay my fine. The penalty was $15 or 20 days.

Initiation to speed also brought convictions to other traffic offenders. Fines of $15 or seven days were imposed on Robert S. Fisher, Chas. Hutter, and Charles Hutter.

Benjamin W. Rogers, Henry Watt, all of Edmonton; and an Alfred Knutson of South Edmonton, and William Foster of Wabamun.

Similar penalties were imposed on Harry Nye of Edmonton, who failed to have his name and other information printed on his truck, as required; on Fred Schofield, Edmonton, who failed to stop before entering a main highway; on George Bellows and Robert Howard Hakes, 36-year-old driver of a truck.

May Aid Invasion Alexander's Star Is Steadily Rising

The night came in western Europe when the Allies will need someone to co-ordinate ground strategy and conduct it into a series of offensives timed to the hour. The day after tomorrow, the Allies will need someone to co-ordinate ground strategy and conduct it into a series of offensives timed to the hour.

Member of Thunderbird Squadron Survives Desperate Hun Attacks

Pilot Officer George Daymond, 1937 12 street, an air bomber with the R.C.A.F., Thunderbird Squadron, is alive and setting his own record for survival. He was shot down by a German aircraft on May 25, but survived the crash landing.

Church Parley Is Continued With Service At Melfa River Canadian Corps Divisions Consolidating Positions

By DOUGLAS AMARON
WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, May 26.—(CP)—Gen. B. M. Hoffmeister are consolidating their positions on both sides of the Melfa river while battalions of the 1st Canadian Division continue to consolidate their positions.

GENERAL PICTURE
The Canadian corps, which consists of these two divisions, pushed into the Melfa valley yesterday, five miles northwest of Pontecorvo, and are consolidating their positions.

CONGRATULATIONS
Congratulations were given the Rev. Mr. Hinchey, Carbon, who won the Dominion Artillery Competition from Canadian gunners yesterday.

STONG RESISTANCE
The strength of the enemy tank and infantry opposition in the closing stages of the battle at the Melfa river, a tributary of the Volturno, was greater than expected in view of the speed with which the Germans withdrew from the Hitler line.
